

CTF Survey of UCP Leadership Candidates

Question 7: Will you introduce and pass MLA recall legislation?

Jeff Callaway: “Yes.”

Brian Jean: “Yes, immediately. Recall is so important, because it makes every action between elections more legitimate because the people have the power to rise up if they truly oppose something. In the first two legislative sessions my caucus colleagues brought MLA recall bills forward as the first Wildrose bills and I strongly supported that. I’ve also announced on day 3 of this campaign in my democracy policy that recall legislation is still an immediate priority for me.”

Jason Kenney: “The members of the UCP will determine its policies.

I personally support recall, and have done so since lobbying for it on behalf of the CTF in the early 1990s.

I believe that recall can be a useful tool to ensure ultimate accountability for legislators, but believe that the thresholds must be high enough to prevent frivolous abuse by special interest groups trying to prevent a government from implementing its platform.”

Doug Schweitzer: “No.”
